

Repo Remarketing Growth Expands Sales Team Into The Southeastern U.S.

Responding to its expanding market growth in the South and Eastern US, Repo Remarketing's Founder and CEO, Lance Gartner has added depth to his sales staff. 'It is my pleasure to announce that Adam Hamza has been named Regional Executive Account Manager for Repo Remarketing. As Regional Executive Account Manager, Adam will oversee the sales activities and client services in the South and Southeastern United States' said Lance. 'Adam's experience in the automotive and credit union industries will keep our service focused on individual client needs while we continue to build a fluid performance platform', Lance continued.

Adam's automotive career began while growing up as the son of an automotive dealer and he has never lost his interest in the automotive industry. Prior to joining Repo Remarketing Adam held positions with Chrysler Financial in collections and at Digital Insight working with credit unions on an internet lending process. For the past 14 years Adam has expanded his skills in consultative sales to include creating, developing and implementing territory development and sales processes. Adam is known for listening to client needs, developing a plan to increase efficiencies while providing the service that the credit union deserves.

Adam is joining the successful Repo Remarketing team that has been providing proven solutions with solid results to credit unions for over ten years. Adam's experience includes expertise in many areas of Repo Remarketing's service package, which includes: skip tracing, repossession, transportation, inspection, valuation, reporting and remarketing. Adam's goal is a simple one: provide a trustworthy bridge to recover and remarket credit union inventory efficiently, simply and profitably. With this goal in mind, Adam will be an important part of the marketing and sales efforts for credit unions that take place through high volume regional auctions in the South and Southeastern US.

Repo Remarketing is an independent, customer focused, national recovery and liquidation service for credit unions. To learn more about uniting your Credit Union with industry standard solutions and breakthrough technologies, contact Claudia Plascencia, claudiap@RepoRemarketing.com, (916) 725-2708, ext.105 or visit www.RepoRemarketing.com

Adam Hamza